Fuzzy Wires

For auction; Starting bid at Php 1,100

Its women's month and what's the one thing women in History have kept consistent and a symbol of beauty and strength. Something that most Goddesses share in description, something that grows and defines physical and emotional capacity. HAIR as it is the most Natural Beauty that every woman possesses. Long, short, frizzy and neat, straight and curvy, bob or pixie it is Hair that we all customise to fit who we are. Not just for women but for everyone

MAGANDA KA, BABAE!, 2025

18"x24"

Acrylic on canvas

For auction; Starting bid at Php 3,850

This painting symbolizes a love letter to the body; real, soft, and beautifully imperfect. Each fold, curve, marks, and crease tells a story, a quiet reminder that beauty isn't found in airbrushed images but in the raw, unfiltered reality of who we are. Social media may pose a highly unrealistic standard nowadays, but this piece pushes back, whispering: "You are enough. You are art. Just as you are."

The Curse We Share, 2025

18"x24"

Acrylic on canvas

For auction; Starting bid at Php 2,750

Medusa is my chosen muse for Women's History Month. Her myth may be ancient lore but her struggles and her curse lives on through the lives of all women.

Mother and Child, 2025

18" x 24"

Acrylic Paint in Stretched Canvas

For auction; Starting bid at Php 1,650

In bright hues of yellow and orange surrounded by a blue background, it captures a mother's love for a child, protecting her from the cruel reality of the outside world. It's as if the child's bubble is her mother's embrace, shielding her from the pain and sorrow that could pierce an innocent heart. Despite uncertainty and the fear of the unknown, a mother's love makes its way through a road covered in smoke because what shines brightest, a guiding light, is her child's smile.

Mistakes of Man, 2025

20"x15"

Acrylic on canvas

For auction; Starting bid at Php 3,300

Mistakes of Man, is a surreal representation of the belittlement of women's achievements. The faceless woman, her identity replaced with a sliced pomegranate, symbolizes how society often reduces women to mere symbols rather than recognizing their individuality and accomplishments. The distorted perspective of the background, with its geometric depth and desert landscape, creates an unsettling atmosphere, reinforcing themes of isolation and disregard. The pomegranate, often associated with knowledge and power, contrasts with the woman's passive pose, highlighting the injustice of how women's successes are often overlooked or diminished.

Eve's Apple, 2025

8"x10"

Gouache and acrylic on canvas

For auction; Starting bid at Php 550

Eve's Apple is a painting commenting on the view of women in our society today. The story of Adam and Eve puts Eve at fault just like how women are often blamed for different problems. This exemplifies the patriarchal thinking that women, being that they originated sin, are the root cause of the problems in society and must be subordinated in order to mitigate those problems. It emphasizes the patriarchal thinking that men are better and that women should be below men. Eve's Apple challenges these societal views.

Healing in Bloom, 2025

10"x14"

Mix Media

For auction; Starting bid at Php 2,444

This piece represents the healing powers of a woman, with green hues symbolizing the heart chakra, the center of love and renewal with flowers and leaves grounding her in strength and stability. The feminine form, bare and unapologetic, embodies confidence in one's own skin and the freedom that comes with release. Delicate yet resilient, she radiates the sacred energy of self-restoration, transforming pain into growth. The gold accents highlight the divine power within, reminding us that healing is both a personal and collective journey. Through this work, I celebrate the beauty of vulnerability, the strength in softness, and the endless cycle of renewal.

Manang Rosing, 2024

15.5" x 19.5"

Acrylic on canvas

For auction; Starting bid at Php 1,980

The name "Manang Rosing" originated in Antique, where stories and beliefs about "manananggal" were prevalent. The name scares the grandmother and her siblings, who are known to hunt humans at night. Manang Rosing, with her proboscis-like tongue, is feared for her extended lifespan. Despite appearing normal during the day, she remains part of the town's story, causing fear and causing her to remain a feared creature.

You can make your own dreams, 2024

24"x24"

Acrylic on canvas

For auction; Starting bid at Php 990

The “You can make your own dreams” abstract painting was inspired from the character of Liza Soberano, in her film “Alone/Together”. Artist chose the personality of Christine Lazaro (Character of Liza Soberano) because of strength which made her more beautiful. The detail of the has 5 different colors which means a lot and it is:

Brown - Symbolizes her strength

Yellow - Optimism when it come of interacting to the people

White - Purity and New Beginnings of her when she came back who Christine Lazaro is.

Red - power that symbolize of her mind and energy

Gold - her success when she achieve the dream she wanted way back she's in college

Flaunt the Flaws, 2025

15"x20"

Acrylic on canvas

For auction; Starting bid at Php 990

The “Flaunt the Flaws” represents self-love and resilience, it embraces the beauty in what society often calls “imperfection”. It is a reminder that the scars, the stretch marks, and the lines in our body are not something that we should be ashamed of but a testament to our journey as a woman that we should be proud of. True beauty lies in acceptance, and power is found in embracing oneself unapologetically.
